

IMI welcomes Truflo employees

As the legal work is completed, I am delighted to welcome Truflo employees to IMI. Truflo is an excellent strategic fit within our successful and expanding Fluid Controls business and the acquisition adds significantly to the capabilities and potential of both organisations.

IMI's proven experience of growing businesses like Truflo is considerable. Truflo and IMI bring each other complementary technologies and sharing market intelligence will provide additional opportunities to meet the needs of existing and new customers across the world.

In this special bulletin to mark the coming together of our businesses and to welcome Truflo employees, you will find highlights from the 2005 IMI Annual Report which demonstrate our considerable financial strength (we reported all time record profits for the year) and an outline of our strategic direction.

Joining IMI will allow you, our new colleagues, to develop further your own careers within a larger and highly dynamic global organisation. IMI is already a world class player in many of the markets where Truflo has a strong presence. With over 14,000 employees in more than 30 countries, IMI promotes a collaborative working environment and operates many schemes specifically designed to develop the outstanding talents of the single asset that most determines our destiny - the people who are our business future.

I look forward to working with you, wherever you are based and whatever your role in Truflo, in the confidence that you will embrace the exciting challenges and opportunities that being part of IMI provides.
